

In the News

Brett Cole, Oklahoma City, recently opened new offices located at 6307 Waterford Blvd., Suite 133.

John W. Conwell, Tulsa, has joined the Oklahoma campuses of the University of Phoenix as director of financial services.

David L. Crites, Tulsa, participated as a national beta test site for QuickBooks 6, Quicken 99 and Timeslips Deluxe 9.

Joshua Jenson, CPA, PC, hosted its first annual golf tournament at Silverhorn Golf Club, raising money for a local charity.

Rick Johnson, Perry, has been appointed chief financial officer for Charles Machine Works, Inc., manufacturer of Ditch Witch and Subsite Electronics products.

Caron A. Lawhorn, Tulsa, has been hired as the manager of internal audit for ONEOK, Inc.

David Paddock, Tulsa, was recently appointed zoning chairman for the Brookside Neighborhood Association in Tulsa.

Jack B. Riley, Ardmore, has been appointed by the AICPA as Personal Financial Specialist (PFS) coordinator for Oklahoma. In this role, Riley participates in a nationwide initiative to generate greater awareness among the accounting profession and the general public of the AICPA's PFS accreditation. Riley will be responsible for: acting as a liaison between the OSCPA and AICPA's PFS subcommittee; promoting the PFS designation at OSCPA events; and developing and maintaining key regional contacts with media and opinion leaders.

Harold L. Russell, Oklahoma City, has been selected to serve on the 1998-99 board of directors for the Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as the Southwest Regional Director. Russell was voted onto the NASBA board at its recent annual business meeting held in Tucson, AZ.

Harral Scott, Oklahoma City, was recently granted the Certified Employee Benefit Specialist (CEBS) designation by the University of Pennsylvania Wharton School of Business and the International Foundation of Employee Benefit Plans.

Harry J. Potter, Tulsa, spoke to the Union Public School System on the subject of "preventing and detecting fraud in your non-profit organization."

Jimmy J. Williams, McAlester, recently served as emcee for the McAlester Arts and Humanities Heritage

Day Luncheon. Williams also provided a job fair booth at Stuart High School where he informed students that a career as a CPA is "More Than Just Numbers."

R.G. Wilson, Clinton, was recently elected treasurer of Family Motor Coach Association at their national convention in Odgen, Utah. The association has a membership of over 100,000 families. ■

In Memoriam

E.E. Hammack
Oklahoma City, OK
September 29, 1998

Practice Enhancement Program

The Equitable Life Assurance Society, one of the nation's premiere insurance and investment organizations, is pleased to offer a program designed for accounting professionals:

- ⇒ Supplement your practice with financial services
- ⇒ Leverage our local infrastructure and resources
- ⇒ Access to financial professionals
- ⇒ Maintain your objectivity

For more information contact:
Anthony L. Howard, CLU, ChFC
(405) 942-4200
3030 NW Expressway, Suite 121
Oklahoma City, OK 73112

EQUITABLE

Member of the Global Group

GE 98-142

